Bank of China (Hong Kong) Limited

Notes:

1. The following transactions conducted over the branch counters of Bank of China (Hong Kong) Limited (the “Bank”), Nanyang Commercial Bank, Limited and Chiyu Banking Corporation Limited are considered as counter transactions: cash deposits, cash withdrawals, cheque deposits, fund transfers and mixed deposit. The total number of counter transactions in a month is calculated based on those conducted in respect of all accounts maintained with the Bank by a corporate customer, as well as those initiated by third parties (including cash and cheque deposits to the corporate customer’s account). The above arrangement is not applicable to selected customers. Please contact our staff for details.

2. Any counter transaction fee payable will be deducted from the corporate customer’s HKD savings or current account. The Bank reserves the right to adjust the above monthly free counter transactions entitled and fee from time to time. If there is any dispute on the calculation of the number of counter transactions and fee, the decision of the Bank shall be final.
