Statement on phishing SMS message and fraudulent mobile banking logon page

Bank of China (Hong Kong) Limited (“BOCHK”) would like to alert its customers and the general public to a phishing SMS message and a fraudulent mobile banking logon page with the design similar to the official mobile banking logon page of BOCHK.

The fraudulent logon page intends to steal customers’ personal data, including the Mobile Banking Number/Username and password. BOCHK declares that it has no connection with the phishing SMS message and fraudulent mobile banking logon page. Meanwhile, the case has been reported to the Hong Kong Monetary Authority and the Hong Kong Police Force.

Phishing SMS message:

Fraudulent mobile banking logon page:

Under no circumstances would BOCHK send out e-mails or SMS messages embedded with hyperlinks directing to the logon page of its Internet Banking or Mobile Banking, or call customers asking them to call back or log into any website/Mobile Banking for system upgrade, to provide/verify their personal information (including their passwords) or to verify their banking information.

When conducting transactions through electronic channels, customers are advised to type the website address of BOCHK (www.bochk.com) into the browser address bar, or download the BOCHK Mobile Application from official App stores or trustworthy sources, for access to their Internet Banking or Mobile Banking accounts. Customers should not access such accounts or provide their personal information (including their passwords) through any hyperlinks, QR Codes or attachments embedded in e-mails or from website. For security information of our electronic banking services, please browse www.bochk.com/en/security.html.

Anyone who has logged into the aforesaid fraudulent mobile banking logon page and provided his or her personal information should immediately call BOCHK Customer Service Hotline (852) 3988 2388 (press 4, 1 and 1 after language selection).
