Bank of China (Hong Kong) becomes the title sponsor of Hong Kong Science Museum's new exhibition to showcase our country's sports achievements and sports science

In support of the 2025 National Games, Bank of China (Hong Kong) (“BOCHK”) is proudly supporting the Hong Kong Science Museum (“HKScM”) to launch the “Bank of China (Hong Kong) Presents: National Development and Achievements Series - Approaching Perfection: The Intersection of Sports and Science” exhibition from 24 October to 25 February next year. The exhibition presents the history of the National Games and the competition events to be held in Hong Kong in the 2025 National Games. It offers a scientific perspective of various sports disciplines and the keys to success, seeking to deepen members of the public’s understanding of sports science.

Addressing the opening ceremony, Mr Cheuk Wing-hing, Deputy Chief Secretary for Administration, the Government of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region, said that the 15th National Games, the 12th National Games for Persons with Disabilities and the 9th National Special Olympic Games, co-hosted by Guangdong, Hong Kong and Macao for the first time, will be launched in November and December respectively this year. This exhibition aims to showcase our country’s remarkable sports achievements, demonstrate how innovative technologies assist athletes to scale new heights, and encourage the public to develop a healthy and active lifestyle.

Mr Stephen Chan, Deputy Chief Executive of Bank of China (Hong Kong), said that BOCHK is fully committed to supporting the successful launch of the National Games. In addition to sponsoring this exhibition and related activities, the Bank has over 430 volunteers dedicated to offering assistance for the Games in Hong Kong. Just as athletes pursue innovation and breakthroughs in their achievements, BOCHK also upholds the same spirit while striving for high-quality development. The Bank hopes this exhibition will inspire broader societal interest in sports science and allow the community to witness the resilient stories of Hong Kong athletes. Moreover, it is remarkable to showcase our country’s sports development reaching new heights on the international level.

Other officiating guests included Mr Raistlin Lau, Under Secretary for Culture, Sports and Tourism; Professor Alexander Wai, Chairperson of the Science Sub-committee of the Museum Advisory Committee; Ms Manda Chan, Director of Leisure and Cultural Services; Ms Cora Ho, Deputy Head of the National Games Coordination Office (Hong Kong) and Mr Patrick Lau, Museum Director of the HKScM.

Featuring more than 20 interactive exhibits, the exhibition invites visitors to experience the essence and enjoyment of various sports, such as the spin of rugby, the jumps of beach volleyball, the speed of track cycling, the precision of golf, the attacks in fencing, and the defence in basketball. Visitors can also take part in the fitness tests in the “Sports for Wellness” zone to better understand their own physical conditions. In addition, the exhibition covers sports psychology, sports medicine, sports nutrition, etc., facilitating members of the public to understand the concept of sports comprehensively and learn how to integrate sports into everyday life.

The exhibition also presents Hong Kong athletes’ medals and equipment, including the track-cycling gear of Ms Lee Wai-sze and the gold medal won by Mr Wu Siu-hong at the IBF World Bowling Championships, which highlight athletes’ relentless efforts and pursuit of excellence in the spirit of sportsmanship.

The HKScM will invite athletes to share experience in their personal journeys, and organise a series of educational programmes, including talks, workshops, and scientific demonstrations. There will be free Cantonese guided tours of the exhibition every Saturday and Sunday (with three sessions daily) from 8 November to 22 February 2026.

The exhibition is presented by the Leisure and Cultural Services Department as the second edition of the National Development and Achievements Series. It is organised by the HKScM, and exclusively sponsored by Bank of China (Hong Kong). Details of the exhibition and activities are available at the HKScM website: hk.science.museum/en/web/scm/exhibition/sports2025.html.
