Risk of Bonds Trading

The prices of bonds fluctuate, sometimes dramatically. The price of a bond may move up or down, and may become valueless. It is as likely that losses will be incurred rather than profit made as a result of buying and selling bonds.

Key Risk Disclosures

- Investment risk: The prices of bonds may go up and down and may be volatile. The bonds may even become worthless. Buying and selling bonds may not necessarily result in any profit, and may sometimes result in loss.
- Issuer / Guarantor credit risk: The return on bonds is linked to the credit of the Issuer and Guarantor, as applicable. The credit ratings assigned by credit rating agencies do not guarantee the creditworthiness of the Issuer and Guarantor, as applicable. In the event that the Issuer defaults, it is possible that you may lose all your investment, including the principal.
- To be distinguished from savings or time deposits: The bonds are an investment product and are not equivalent to a time deposit, and are unsecured and are not guaranteed (if there is no guarantor). The bonds are not protected deposits under the Deposit Protection Scheme in Hong Kong. The bonds are not principal-protected. The investment in bonds involve risks not associated with regular bank deposits and should not be regarded as a substitute for regular savings or time deposit.
- Not covered by the Investor Compensation Fund: The bonds are not covered by the Investor Compensation Fund.
- Interest rate risk: Changes in interest rates may have a significant impact on the market price of the bonds. For example, bond prices generally fall when interest rates rise - In this situation, you may incur a loss from the decrease in market price of the bonds if you sell the bonds before the final maturity date.
- Currency risk: For bonds not denominated in your home currency, if the currency in which the bonds are denominated depreciates against your home currency during your holding period, and if calculated and settled in your home currency, exchange rate fluctuations may have an adverse impact on, and the potential loss may offset (or even exceed), the investment return.
- Tenor risk: The bonds have a specified investment period. The longer the investment period of the bonds, the more likely changes in interest rates, exchange rates, market environments and the Issuer's performance (or even exceed), the investment return and price of the bonds value during the investment period. Your actual return (if any) may be substantially lower than expected and you may even suffer losses
- Liquidity risk: The bonds are designed to be held to maturity and there may be no active secondary market quotations for the bonds. If you try to sell your bonds before maturity, it may be difficult or impossible to find a buyer, or the sale price may be much lower than the amount you had invested. You may suffer a loss if you sell your bonds before maturity.
- RMB Conversion Limitation Risk: RMB investments are subject to exchange rate fluctuations which may provide both opportunities and risks. The fluctuation in the exchange rate of RMB may result in losses in the event that the customer converts RMB into HKD or other foreign currencies.
(Only applicable to Corporate Customers) RMB is currently not fully freely convertible. Corporate customers that intend to conduct conversion of RMB through banks may occasionally not be able to do so fully or immediately, for which it is subject to the RMB position of the banks and their commercial decisions at that moment. Customers should consider and understand the possible impact on their liquidity of RMB funds in advance.
- Emerging Market Risk: Investing in emerging markets involves certain risks and special considerations not typically associated with investing in other more established economies or securities markets. Such emerging markets may lack the social, political or economic stability. Exposure to these markets may entail more volatility than investments in more established markets. (Applicable for RMB Bonds)
- Other risks: There may be other risks associated with the investment of each particular bond which are not mentioned above, please refer to each individual Term Sheet for details.

Risk of Precious Metals Trading

The market in precious metals is volatile and a substantial loss may be incurred from transacting in them. Due to the fluctuating nature of the precious metals markets, their prices may rise or fall beyond your expectations and your investment funds may increase or decrease in value as a result of selling and purchasing of precious metals. Before making any investment decision, you should assess your own willingness and ability to bear risks and are advised to seek advice from an independent financial advisor.

- Market risk. In respect of (i) London gold bullion, (ii) Zurich platinum and (iii) London silver as the Reference Asset, the Bank’s Selling Price (as defined under the section headed “What are the key features?” on page 3 in the “Product Key Facts Statement” on the website of BOCHK (www.bochk.com)) and the Bank’s Purchase Price (as defined under the section headed “What are the key features?” on page 3 in the “Product Key Facts Statement” on the website of BOCHK (www.bochk.com)) per Trading Unit (as defined under the section headed “What are the key features?” on page 3 in the “Product Key Facts Statement” on the website of BOCHK (www.bochk.com)) are determined by the Bank with reference to, amongst others, the prevailing market prices of the relevant Reference Asset equal to one Trading Unit (as quoted by market dealers to the Bank). The prevailing market prices of the relevant Reference Asset or London gold bullion (if applicable) can be very volatile due to a variety of factors that are unpredictable, including but not limited to changes in the supply and demand relationship, interest rate movement, inflation, economic growth and geopolitical tension. - Credit risk of the Bank. Your investments in the Product are subject to credit risk of the Bank. Material adverse changes in the financial condition of the Bank may impair or affect the ability of the Bank to meet its obligations under the Product.
- Insolvency risk of the Bank. There is no assurance of protection against a default by the Bank in respect of its payment obligations. If you invest in the Product, you are relying upon the creditworthiness of the Bank and of no other person. If the Bank becomes insolvent or defaults on its obligations under the Product, you can only claim as the Bank’s unsecured creditor. In the worst case scenario, you may lose your entire investment.
- Suspension risk. The Bank may suspend dealing of Trading Units of the Product if (i) there is any suspension of or limitation on trading in the Reference Asset by markets including but not limited to London Bullion Market Association or London Platinum & Palladium Market, which is material in the determination of the Bank acting in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner, (ii) an event occurs that disrupts or impairs the ability of market participants in general to effect transactions in, or obtain market values for the Reference Asset trading on markets including but not limited to London Bullion Market Association or London Platinum & Palladium Market, which is material in the determination of the Bank acting in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner, (iii) an event occurs that disrupts or impairs the Bank in general to effect transactions under the Product (such as system failure), which is material in the determination of the Bank acting in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner; (iv) an event occurs that disrupts or impairs the Bank in general to effect transactions in, or obtain market values for the Reference Asset, the prevailing exchange rate between USD and HKD and/or the price of any futures contract for the Reference Asset trading on the related exchange market, which is material in the determination of the Bank acting in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner; or (v) a hedging disruption event occurs (such as where the Bank is unable to hedge its risk of performing its obligations under the Product). These disruption events are unpredictable and might occur when there is a drastic fluctuation in the price of the Reference Asset. If dealing of Trading Units of the Product is suspended, you will not be able to buy or sell your Trading Units of the Product nor to liquidate or offset your position. The value of your investment in the Product may be adversely affected. You may suffer a loss as a result.
- Early termination risk. The Bank reserves the right to terminate the Product with at least 90 days’ prior written notice to you. If the Product is to be terminated, in addition to following any procedures set out in the constitutive documents or governing law of the Product, notice must be given to the investors as determined by the SFC. Such notice (which should be at least three months) should be submitted to the SFC for prior approval and contain the reasons for the termination, the relevant provisions under the constitutive documents that enable such termination, the consequences of the termination and its effects on the existing investors, the alternatives (if any) available to the investors, and the estimated costs of the termination (if any) and its bearer.

The Bank also reserves the right to terminate your Product Account with at least 30 days’ prior written notice to you or upon the occurrence of certain events (such as the occurrence of an event of default in respect of you). In these scenarios, if you could not sell your Trading Units in the Product Account back to us before the termination date, the amount payable by the Bank to you on such termination will be determined by the Bank in good faith based on the prevailing circumstances, which may be substantially less than your investments in the Product. Please refer to the Terms and Conditions (as defined under the section headed “Amendments to the terms and conditions of this Paper Gold Scheme” on page 6 in the “Product Key Facts Statement” on the website of BOCHK (www.bochk.com)) for details.
- Set-off and Lien. The Bank has the right to combine all or any of your accounts anywhere with the Bank to set-off against any indebtedness owed by you to the Bank without prior notice. - Exchange rate risk. The Bank’s Selling Price and the Bank’s Purchase Price per Trading Unit are determined by the Bank with reference to, amongst others, the prevailing exchange rate between USD and HKD at the time the price per Trading Unit is determined as the prevailing market prices of the relevant Reference Asset or London gold bullion (if applicable) are not quoted in Hong Kong dollar (“HKD”). Accordingly, your investment in the Product will be subject to the prevailing exchange rate risk between USD and HKD.

- Risk relating to the Bank's hedging activities. The Bank may enter into hedging transactions, which typically involve the establishment of long and/or short positions in the relevant Reference Asset, with its respective hedging counterparties in the market. It is possible that these activities could adversely affect the prevailing market prices of the relevant Reference Asset or London gold bullion (if applicable) if the size of hedging transaction is substantial. As such the Bank's Selling Price and the Bank's Purchase Price per Trading Unit which are determined by the Bank with reference to such prevailing market prices will be affected as well. The value of your investments in the Product may move up and down.
- Force majeure events. The Bank is not liable for any failure or delay to meet its obligations due to any causes beyond its control which shall include local or international happenings such as Acts of God, government act, flood, fire, civil commotion, strike, war or any other causes beyond the reasonable control of the Bank, mechanical failure, power failure, malfunction, breakdown, interruption or inadequacy of equipment or installation or other cause which results or is likely to result in the erratic behavior of the prices of precious metals, the closure of the markets or exchanges of precious metals or any other cause affecting the operation of the Product.
